Annual Report 2006

Awards and Accolades

- Radnor Township received the Government Finance Officers' Association's Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting for the 11th consecutive year, the GFOA's highest honor in governmental financial reporting
- Radnor Multipurpose Trail named Best Biking and Running Trail by Main Line Today magazine
- The Radnor Police Department received more than $90,000 in mobile data terminals for police vehicles as part of a Delaware County grant from the U.S. Department of Homeland Security
 - Harford Park named Best Park for Pets by Main Line Today magazine
- Radnor Township received the prestigious Tree City USA status for the 13th consecutive year and the National Arbor Day Foundation's Growth Award for the 4th consecutive year
 - Radnor's residential recycling program was awarded with a performance grant totaling more than $120,000

Dear Friends:

n behalf of the entire Board of Commissioners, management team, and staff of Radnor Township, we are pleased to present the 2006 Annual Report.

In this report, you will find a comprehensive update on each of the Township's major areas of operation: Community Development, Engineering, Finance, Parks and Recreation, Public Safety, and Public Works. Among other things, you'll learn more about:

- the open space referendum overwhelmingly passed by you, the voters, in November
- the Township's 11th annual Certificate of Excellence in Financial Reporting from the Government Finance Officers Association
- the adoption of a new Wayne Master Plan, creating a pathway for the continued vitality of our major business district
- the creation of an Historic and Architectural Review Board to help preserve the North Wayne Historic District
- new cost-saving contracts with the Township's two employee unions

- voluntarily smoke-free dining establishments
- the purchase of a nuisance property on Brook Street and plans for its regreening
- the successful Cops in Shops program
- and much more.

We would especially like to thank the nearly 100 volunteer members of our dozen-plus advisory boards and commissions. Each year, these volunteers give back to our community by collectively lending us hundreds of hours of their time and expertise to help mold our township's unique quality of life.

As always, your input is invaluable to us. We urge you to watch Township meetings on television—Channel 10 for Comcast subscribers or Channel 30 if you have Verizon—or, better yet, come to a meeting. Get in touch with your commissioner or Township staff. Let us know what is on your mind.

It is our pleasure and privilege to continue to serve you.

Best wishes,

Harry G. Mahoney, Esq. President, Board of Commissioners

Parks and Recreation

n the past 10 years - from 1996 through the end of 2006 - Radnor Township has purchased approximately 52 acres of land throughout the Township with the intent of preserving open space and preventing overdevelopment in all seven wards. The most recent purchase occurred in late 2006 at 227 Brook Street, the former site of a towing facility that had long been an eyesore and a nuisance property for the neighbors in the Fifth Ward.

What makes the Brook Street property unique is the fact that the existing structure on the property - the garage, paved areas, and fencing – has been demolished so that the land can be returned to its natural park-like state. This is the second time Radnor Township is restoring, or regreening, a developed property back into open space; the first such project took place on Petrie Avenue, also in the Fifth Ward, in December 2000.

In October, the Township hosted its most successful Radnor Run ever, with revenues totaling $67,000 for the American Lung Association. Many thanks to returning lead sponsor Penn Medicine at Radnor for their support of the annual Radnor Run.

The Parks and Recreation Department continued to enhance recreational opportunities for residents of all ages with the addition of new programs such as puppetry camp, chess club, after school drama club, and holiday cookies from around the world, as well as familiar favorites such as the popular Radnor Day Camp and Tot Lot, pickup basketball, environmental and nature programs, wrestling, day trips to nearby attractions, and science camps. In addition, the Township hosted the popular Summer Concert Series with financial support from Commerce Bank.

In addition to the Brook Street purchase, other green spaces in the Township also were spruced up, cleaned up, updated, and/or recognized for their excellence in 2006.

- Linkages to the Radnor Multipurpose Trail were planned to allow safer pedestrian access.
- The Willows mansion received a facelift in the form of new kitchen equipment, a new solarium roof and skylights, interior paint, and a complete exterior washing.
- Outside at the Willows, the Township honored longtime resident and philanthropist Robert Montgomery Scott with

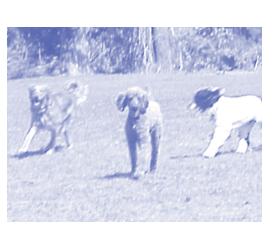

- the Bob Scott Memorial Tree Grove, developed in conjunction with the Radnor Conservancy and Chanticleer.
- Main Line Today magazine recognized two Radnor parks

 the Multipurpose

 Trail and Harford Park

 in its annual "Best of Philadelphia" issue.
- Environmental cleanups took place at the D'Antonio and Levin Tracts, Clem Macrone Park, Ithan Valley Park, Fenimore Woods, Skunk Hollow, and Harford Park.

Dogs – and their twolegged friends – enjoy Harford Park year-round.

The Radnor Multi-Purpose Trail was voted #1 trail for biking and running in tormwater management. It's a term that many people toss around, and for good reason.

Engineering

Stormwater runoff occurs when precipitation from rain or snow flows over the ground. Impervious surfaces like driveways, sidewalks, streets, roofs, and other paved areas prevent the stormwater from naturally soaking into the ground. While it's flowing on paved surfaces, stormwater runoff can pick up debris, chemicals, oils, and other pollutants, taking them directly into a stream, wetland, or storm sewer. Anything that enters a storm sewer system is discharged untreated into the water we use for swimming, fishing, and drinking.

We can control runoff, however, by installing appropriate systems when large-scale development is taking place... for example, the site of the Radnor Middle School. In 2006, the Board of Commissioners approved a stormwater management system at the site that will reduce runoff from all storm events, with more significant decreases evident after smaller storms

Another new stormwater management system was designed for installation on Watch Hill Road, a location that has been a constant issue during rain storms. A newly designed storm sewer system will direct the runoff into a different direction. While it is flowing in the pipes it will be infiltrated to reduce the amount of water that exits and runs into the nearest stream.

Sanitary sewers were installed for 19 homes on Hillside Circle and Orchard Lane. The design of the sanitary sewers is being completed for 11 homes on Radnor Way. These sewers will be installed during the summer of 2007.

The Township's GIS

-Geographic Information System-mapping program was enhanced with the addition of colored aerials supplied by the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission. These relatively high-resolution aerials-like the one on this page-were flown in mid-2005. An important feature of these new aerials is to juxtapose them with previous black and white aerial photos taken in 1999 to view the development

trends that have occurred Township-wide in that time span. Additionally, the aerials provide the Township with the ability to view open space from a land planning and environmental perspective, as well as the ability to see building locations in the Wayne Business District and open space in Ardrossan.

This advertisement was placed in local newspapers to help educate residents about stormwater runoff.

In addition, the Engineering Department reviewed applications for:

- 281 grading permits,
- 80 sidewalk permits,
- 135 highway permits, and
- 14 subdivision and land development permits,
- and collected more than $240,000 in permit application fees and inspection fees.

Stormwater Is Everybody's Business

Too Little Stormwater Infiltration!

Stormwater infiltration occurs when rain and snowmelt soak into the ground. This water is stored in the ground, increasing water supply for future use and lowering the drought potential. With more impervious surfaces being created, less stormwater has the opportunity to infiltrate into the groundwater, increasing drought potential.

Too Much Stormwater Runoff!

Increases in stormwater runoff occur when rain and snowmelt flow over impervious surfaces like driveways, sidewalks, and streets. Without the use of proper stormwater management techniques, polluted stormwater flows directly into streams, increasing flooding potential.

Residents, municipalities, businesses, and developers need to work together to decrease stormwater runoff and increase stormwater infiltration.

For more information about stormwater in your neighborhood, contact your local watershed association, Radnor Township, or Lower Merion Township.

You can promote infiltration around your home through the use of:

rain barrels to collect rooftop rainwater in mosquito-proof containers for later use in your garden; rain gardens, planted with native vegetation, that provide areas to direct rooftop runoff where it can soak into the ground; vegetated filter strips of native plants and grasses along roadways and streams that trap runoff and filter pollutants; and permeable paving that allows rainwater and snowmelt to soak through, decreasing runoff.

Finance

he budgetary news is good this year, thanks in no small part to strong revenue performance and expenditure cuts in 2006, and overall sound fiscal planning for the past few years. The 2007 operating budget of $64.3 million included no increase in real estate taxes, which remain at 3.01 mills - the lowest in Delaware County among municipalities of more than 25,000 residents and 14th lowest in Delaware County overall (out of 49). The Township's real estate tax is 12.1% of residents' overall tax burden, with 17.9% going to Delaware County and 70% to the school district.

Several factors contributed to the ability to hold taxes steady, including eliminating and/or reducing summer help and intern positions in several departments, eliminating virtually all civilian overtime except in emergencies, moving 34 non-union employees to managed healthcare in 2006, transferring police dispatch responsibilities to Delaware County, and printing many business forms in-house instead of contracting them out.

Substantial additional savings will result from new collective bargaining agreements negotiated in 2006 with the Fraternal Order of Police and Radnor Association of Township Employees. Most noteworthy in those contracts is a new premiumbased health benefits plan with the Delaware Valley Health Insurance Trust, which is expected to reduce outlays for employee health claims by approximately $1.5 million per year in future years.

Thanks to more construction projects than originally anticipated, increased collections in business taxes, and increased participation in recreation programs, the year 2006 also ended with a higher than expected general fund balance of $2.5 million – up from an original estimate of $1 million.

The 2007-2011 capital budget of $28.9 million includes the completion of the Township Municipal Building, stormwater management improvements, police and public works equipment, park improvements, annual road resurfacing, and a new fire truck.

Additionally, the Finance Department:

• Welcomed a new, highly qualified Chief Financial Officer, Aimee Cuthbertson, CPA, and bid farewell to former CFO David Fiorenza

- Received the prestigious Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting award from the Government Finance Officers Association for the 11th consecutive year
- Redesigned a more user-friendly Township website, www.radnor.com

Community Development

The Board of Commissioners adopted the
Wayne Master Plan in 2006.

uilding on its past successes, the Community Development Department in 2006 drafted an ordinance not only protecting the Township's first historic preservation district but also creating a Historic and Architectural Review Board and appointment of five members, including one registered architect, one licensed real estate broker, one person with technical knowledge in the building codes and construction industry, and two at-large members with knowledge and interest in the preservation of historic districts.

The HARB is responsible for considering matters pertinent to historical preservation, including: historical values representing the cultural, political, economic or social history of the Township; relationship of the building to historic persons or events; significant architectural features of a certain historical period or type of construction; visible architectural features; and building design. The HARB related to demolition, new construction, and additions/ accessory structures and either approve them as submitted, approve them with conditions, or deny them before reporting on its findings to the Board of Commissioners. Plans approved by the Board of Commissioners receive a Certificate of Appropriateness.

will review applications

In September, after more than two years of public review, focus groups, public meetings, unanimous recommendation for approval by the Township's Planning Commission, and strong support from both the Delaware County Planning Commission and Wayne Business Association, the Board of Commissioners adopted the Wayne Master Plan. The Master Plan was one of the key recommendations of the 2003 Comprehensive Land Use Plan and serves as a blueprint to guide the future growth, redevelopment and continued improvement of the Wayne Business District. In 2007, the Board of Commissioners will consider the Wayne Business Overlay District ordinances, which would amend the Township's Zoning and Subdivision/ Land Development Codes. Among the major provisions envisioned are mixed use buildings with retail on the ground floor and offices or residences upstairs; a new building height allowance of up to 42 feet; build-to lines for building fronts; outdoor dining; and various other aesthetic regulations.

Downtown Wayne
also benefited from new ornamental streetlights on East Lancaster Avenue.
Funds for the streetlights – which now span from North/South Wayne Avenue to east of Louella Court
– came from the Radnor
Enhancement Community Trust.

Wayne wasn't the only area of the Township benefiting from Community Development's work in 2006. The Township approved Brandywine Realty Trust's application to build a new Commerce Bank and retail building on North Radnor-Chester Road – the former site of the PennDot Building in Radnor. Also in Radnor, Eastern University was approved to construct a new classroom building as well as a new dormitory.

And Villanova University received approval for its new nursing school and an athletic facility.

To protect the health and wellbeing of its residents, the Township – under the direction of the Board of Health and Health Officer Larry Taltoan – established criteria for recognizing eating establishments that voluntarily prohibit smoking. Certificates are now displayed in participating restaurants and other food service establishments, recognizing them as members of Radnor Township's Voluntary Smoke Free Dining Club. For a complete list, go to www.radnor.com or tune in to Radnor's government access cable television channel (channel 10 for Comcast subscribers, and channel 30 for Verizon subscribers).

Other accomplishments:

- Amended the Zoning
 Code to require Planning Commission review for all applications that may require future land development or subdivision
- Adopted the 2006
 International Code
 Council Building Codes
- Amended the Subdivision and Land Development Code definition of "lot area" and lot consolidation requirements
- Issued more than 2,300 construction permits after reviewing all applications and related documents; these projects totaled more than $132 million in construction costs and generated more than $2 million in permit fees for the Township o enhance communication between the Township and County, as well as between municipalities in Delaware County and surrounding counties, in 2006 the Board of Commissioners authorized the Radnor Police Department to transfer police dispatch duties to Delaware County. The resulting interconnectivity between Radnor and its neighboring municipalities brings the Township into compliance with strict federal regulations under the National Incident Management System regarding emergency preparedness and incident management.

Thanks to a $90,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Homeland Security and administered through Delaware County, several of Radnor's police vehicles were updated with mobile data terminals to allow officers to enter data, file reports, and obtain driver background information right in their cars. This streamlined procedure makes it easier for officers to file immediate, accurate reports while still remaining on the roads to ensure that they are able to respond quickly to other calls.

Also in 2006, the Radnor Police Department:

- Conducted more than 840 visits to community schools and more than 2,650 vacant house checks for residents on vacation
- Promoted a new Sergeant and Corporal, and hired two new patrol officers
- Issued more than 4,500 traffic citations to keep Radnor roadways safe
- Spent 430 hours in firearms training
- Received a $7,700 grant for bullet proof vests
- Approved speed humps on Louella Avenue and reduced the speed limit on S. Wayne Avenue to 25 mph as part of the traffic calming efforts near the Radnor Middle School
- Volunteer firefighters, EMTs, and paramedics from the Radnor, Bryn Mawr, and Broomall Fire Companies responded to more than 3,100 calls from residents and business in 2006. These volunteer companies depend largely on individual and corporate support to finance their operations, which otherwise would have to be funded by their host municipalities (such as Radnor Township), requiring a substantial tax increase.

A $90,000 grant provided mobile data units for several of Radnor's fleet of police vehicles.

adnor Township consistently rates at the top all municipalities in Delaware County - and near the top compared to other municipalities throughout the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania – when it comes to recycling. In fact, the Township's residential recycling rate of 49% is highest in all of Delaware County and significantly higher than the 30% that is mandated by the Commonwealth. Since 1997, Radnor Township has received $1,033,599 in grant money based on our residents' and businesses' outstanding recycling performance.

Currently, Township residents are required to recycle aluminum and bi-metallic cans, glass, plastic bottles, clean paper and newspaper products, and leaves. Christmas tree recycling also is available for residents who desire it. In addition, recycling is mandatory for persons occupying commercial and institutional establishments as well as multi-family rental housing units. Owners/ landlords/business owners must establish a collection system for recyclable materials, complete with suitable containers and written instructions. In 2006, the Public Works Department and Township

Recycling Coordinator worked with commercial property and apartment owners to increase their compliance with the Township's strict recycling regulations.

Another environmental effort that takes place every year is the annual tree planting done by Public Works staff. Based on requests from the Township's seven commissioners, the Township purchases and plants shade trees in each of the seven wards. In 2006, staff planted 30 new trees to help beautify and green the Township – earning us Tree City USA status for the past 14 years and a Growth Award for the fourth straight year.

To keep traffic moving along Lancaster Avenue and prevent some of the traffic woes that plague our main corridor - and, as a result, many secondary roads that motorists use to avoid Lancaster Avenue - Public Works staff continued to collaborate with consultants McMahon & Associates on the design of a closed loop traffic control system for Route 30. Such a system will alleviate congestion and improve traffic flow by providing a more advanced timing mechanism for the traffic lights at 17 intersections along the Route 30 corridor. It also will increase safety by coordinating with emergency response signals from fire trucks, ambulances, and police cars.

Also in 2006, Public Works:

- Installed a new traffic signal at Conestoga and Roberts Roads
- Installed 32 new handicap curb ramps throughout the Township
- Replaced stormwater pipe under County Line Road near Gulph Creek Road
- Adapted traffic signals along Route 30 to run with new portable backup generators to keep traffic moving during a power outage

Recycling is mandatory in Radnor Township.

Other Noteworthy Events

n General Election Day 2006, the voters of Radnor Township let their fingers do the talking and voted Yes to approve an open space bond referendum. By an overwhelming majority –80% yes to 20% no–the voters of Radnor Township authorized the Board of Commissioners to borrow up to $20 million for the preservation of open space throughout the Township.

Radnor residents were given another opportunity to choose in 2006-the opportunity to choose a cable television provider -when the Radnor Board of Commissioners approved a new cable franchise with Verizon of Pennsylvania. Like the Township's existing franchise with Comcast Cable, the Verizon agreement is already looked upon by other municipalities as a model franchise.

Early in 2006, Township administration implemented a new cost-saving healthcare plan for the 34 non-union employees. This change resulted in financial savings to the Township, but officials weren't done yet. By December, Township leadership had successfully negotiated new contracts with the two employee unions, resulting in a new health plan for all employees and retirees. In future years, the new healthcare plan could result in savings as high as $1.5 million per year.

In January 2006, the Board of Commissioners awarded bids for construction of a new state-of-the-art Township Municipal Building. The new building is currently under construction and is scheduled to open later this year with a more residentfriendly layout, higher technological capacity, and additional meeting spaces for community groups.

Also in 2006,

- The Township planned and held the 5th annual Bob Crofford Golf Classic, raising more than $17,000 for scholarships for local youth
- Sponsored the 6th annual Unity Breakfast in observance of Undoing Racism Day
- Sponsored the 6th annual Senior Luncheon at the Willows to honor our older residents

- Hosted an educational display for Black History Month during the month of February
- Sponsored Martin Luther King Day of Service and assisted Radnor school district students in their volunteer efforts

Radnor voters authorized the Board of Commissioners to borrow up to $20 million to preserve open space.
